

Why Complain?

Fermanagh and Omagh District Council is committed to continual service improvement. Our services change according to customer need and expectations. We acknowledge that sometimes mistakes happen and we need your input and your advice to help us put things right and improve the quality of service that we offer.

How to Complain

Anyone can complain. A complaint can be made personally or by a representative acting on your behalf. A complaint can be registered in person, by letter, fax, email or by contacting your local Councillor. When making a complaint, you should state clearly:

- Your name, address and telephone number;
- Date, names, details of the incident you are complaining about or other information related to your complaint.

Our Response

We will deal with all complaints as quickly, effectively and efficiently as possible. A full explanation and outcome will be forwarded to you after investigation.

All complaints will be dealt with confidentially.

Please note:

- If you have a complaint about a planning decision this should be raised through the Planning Appeals process. The Official Complaint Form can be used where it relates to the way that an application is handled, or where correct procedures have not been followed.
- If you do not provide a contact name or address, we will not be able to get back to you with an outcome. Due to these difficulties we will investigate an anonymous complaint at our discretion. We will take the following factors into account:

- The seriousness of the complaint
- The credibility of the complaint
- The likelihood of confirming the allegation from attributable sources
- Whether the allegation has been investigated before
